"We are excited by our recent results and the significant progress made year over year to net income. The Company has weathered trying economic times and a shift of focus, while remaining committed to reducing our long term dependence on convertible debt. In just the past 90 days we have reduced convertible debt by over three quarters of a million dollars, reduced our loss per share from the same quarter last year by over 89%, with a nearly four million dollar positive impact to net income; dramatically reducing losses across the board", said Alex Cunningham, Cardiff Lexington CEO. We have far more cash on hand than recent quarters. We have finished the PCAOB audit of one of our acquisition targets and thereby expect to add another subsidiary company that is closely aligned with our growth strategy in the healthcare and financial services sectors. There is much more to do, but today, we celebrate the accomplishments of our dedicated team all of whom continue to strive tirelessly to implement our long term strategy. We greatly appreciate our shareholders, and their patience, and take our fiduciary responsibility very seriously. We understand we have a long way to go, but firmly believe that over time the market always recognizes performance.
